

Synopsis:

Harlene Frye is going to marry her childhood sweetheart this weekend . . . assuming the typical Frye family hijinks don't derail the wedding! Harlene and Attie's future together is threatened when the bride-to-be's awful ex-flame shows up with information she doesn't want her fiancé to find out. And Harlene's not the only Frye keeping secrets: Sammy Jo refuses to tell her family she's moving even though all her bags are already packed. As if that isn't enough, Dewey can't figure out why people keep asking him to give his sister away, and busybody Ozella Meeks has somehow ended up as the wedding coordinator. Will the Fries be able to get Harlene down the aisle in one piece? A bighearted comedy about family—Southern-style.
